THE TEUTONIC BARRIER

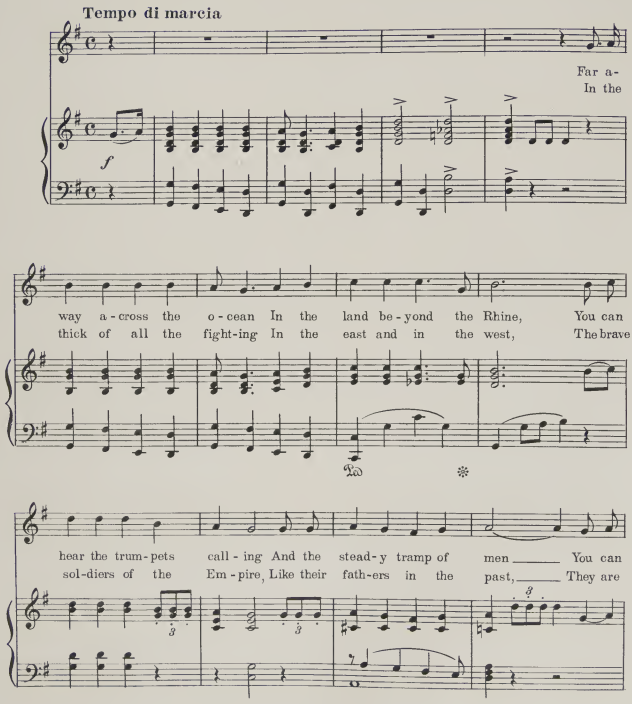
WORDS AND MUSIC BY

LOUIS C. MILLER

Published by
LOUIS C. MILLER
SEATTLE, WASH.

The Teutonic Barrier

Words and Music by LOUIS C. MILLER



Tempo di marcia
Far a-
In the f
way a-cross the o-cean In the land be-yond the Rhine, You can thick of all the fight-ing In the east and in the west, The brave hear the trum-pets call-ing And the stead-y tramp of men You can sol-diers of the Em-pire, Like their fath-ers in the past, They are

Copyright MCMXV by Louis C.Miller hear the roar of bat-tle and the bul-lets dis-mal whine Where our dy-ing for their coun-try and all that man loves best That the broth-ers are a-fight-ing That all may not be lost To the glor-ies of their peo-ple Be not hum-bled in the dust By the rall yel-low race of As-ia and the half bar-bar-ic Russ. yel-low race of As-ia and the half bar-bar-ic Russ.

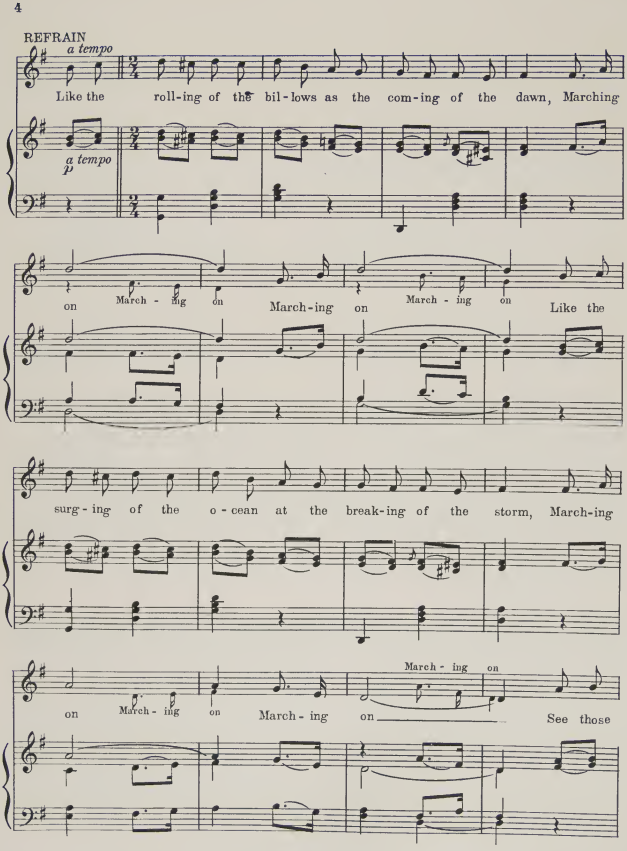
rall
sfz



REFRAIN
a tempo
Like the roll-ing of the bil-lows as the com-ing of the dawn, Marching
a tempo
p
on March - ing on March-ing on March - ing on Like the surg - ing of the o - cean at the break-ing of the storm, March-ing on March - ing on March - ing on March - ing on See those brave young Ger-man sol-diers, They're marching to the fray, To save their homes and al-tars, and they'll sure-ly win the day, See those ff

long gray man-ly col-umns as they march from night till dawn March-ing ff
on march-ing on, march-ing on.

Robert Dahlstrom
Music Print Consultant